Unusual Pets

Keeping animals like dogs and cats as pets is a tradition in many people's houses. Today, more people live in an apartment rather than a house. Many apartments do not allow people to keep pets inside. Some young people have started to own robot pets. Elderly people are also interested in having such pets, so they want to ask shop clerks a lot of information. People will become more familiar with this new kind of pet.

Your story should begin with this sentence:

One day, Ken and his father were on their way to a park.
